C. FUNDED PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT RESEARCH RESIDENCIES (PDR)

PDR residencies are designed and funded directly by the artist (or other funding body that they may approach such as Local Authorities or the Arts Council for e.g under their Professional Development, Agility, Bursary or other award scheme).

PDR's provide a practical research and development base for artists working in all media who need time out to investigate a specific idea and/or explore a technical or material process, of their choosing, in order to advance their practice. Artists on PDR's typically build-in technical training into their residencies availing of the Centre's experienced technicians to do this. PDR's come without the requirement of an exhibition or any specific outcome at the end, apart from a short progress report to LSC.
